

SHAKLEE'S ENVIRONMENTAL ACCOMPLISHMENTS

1960

Introduced one of the first biodegradable cleaners

2002

Awarded the Climate Protection Award by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency

1989

Provided nutritional support to Will Steger for three record-breaking polar expeditions that investigated global warming and melting ice caps

2002

Shaklee earned the Environmental Stewardship Award from Social Accountability International

1989

Shaklee support helped plant more than one million trees in Asia

2003

Supported construction of an energy-efficient wind turbine on Native American reservations

1990

Recognized as one of the 10 most environmental companies by Family Circle's Green-Chip Award

2003

Converted high-polluting school buses in Los Angeles to those with low emissions

1991

Healthy Home products used in Biosphere 2 project

2004

Received IntegriTREE award from New Leaf Paper

1996

Shaklee products used aboard Odyssey, a research vessel that gathers data on contaminants throughout the world's oceans

2005

Supported 2004 Nobel laureate Wangari Maathai's Greenbelt Movement

2000

The first U.S. company certified as having a net zero impact on global warming

For more information: